Urge News Media To Head Off Late Political Smears

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's news media was urged today to head off unfair last-minute political attacks by refusing to publicize any new issues raised during the last five days before election.

The Fair Campaign Practices Committee urged newspapers, radio and television stations to reject both stories and paid political advertisements raising late issues.

If new political attacks must be reported during that period, the committee said, newsmen should be required to make every possible effort to report the answer at the same time.

The committee sent to all news media a study it has made of the closing days of a campaign and the methods some publications and broadcast stations have used to deal with them.

The study disclosed that the chief method is to alert news staffs to watch for questionable attacks by campaigners during the final stages of the campaign.

Weekend Traffic Mishaps Kill 21

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents killed 21 persons on Michigan highways over the Columbus Day weekend, including three youths who died in a head-on crash in St. Clair Township.

The Associated Press fatality count began at 5 p.m. Friday and ended Sunday midnight.

Killed in the St. Clair crash Saturday were Francisco Vasquez, 24, Leslie Reed, 25, and Judith Reed, 23, all of Port Huron.

Assign Second Vietnam Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the Army and Marines are sending thousands of men back for involuntary second tours to Vietnam.

The Army plans to return about 18,000 this year, the Marines some 6,000.

Until this year, the number of nonvolunteers ordered to a second round of war service has amounted only to a trickle.

But this has changed because of the length of the war, the high manpower turnover stemming from the one-year duty tour in Vietnam, and the tight supply of seasoned officers and noncommissioned officers.

Many career servicemen also are becoming eligible for involuntary second tours in Vietnam because they have been away from the war zone for at least two years.

The Army, Marines and Navy had set that as the hoped-for interval between tours, although some exceptions had been made in such scarce skills as helicopter pilots. The Air Force has had no specific interval policy but has tried to give everybody a turn before tapping men for second tours.

The involuntary second tour trend will affect career servicemen rather than draftees because young men serving two-year draft hitch may not be returned to the war.

The Army contingent will include 4,950 officers mostly in the captain-major-lieutenant colonel bracket, and 12,900 enlisted men, chiefly senior noncommissioned officers.

The Marine returnees will include 1,000 officers and 5,000 enlisted men.

Fix Apollo Power Failure

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — The three Apollo 7 astronauts got a "go" today to spend at least another 24 hours in space, despite several problems that included a momentary power loss that triggered flashing spaceship warning lights high over the Red Sea.

Ground controllers gave the go-ahead for at least 61 orbits after concluding that the power dropout, described by one of the three orbiting astronauts as "a very traumatic experience," could be avoided by changing switch positions on several fans which officials said overloaded electrical circuits.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham moved ahead with plans for today's first television broadcast from a U.S. manned spaceship, but said they may have to postpone a radar experiment because of a computer problem.

Schirra, who refused to switch on the camera during the first scheduled telecast Saturday, agreed to a TV transmission today.

Flight director Gene Kranz

said the momentary electrical power loss, which occurred shortly before 1 a.m. (EDT), apparently was "attributable to a cyclic load" caused by too many fans or heaters going on simultaneously. He said this theory was supported by the fact that the problem did not reappear when the reset switch was thrown.

The 4½-pound television camera aboard Apollo 7 can be mounted to point inside the spacecraft cabin or hand held at the end of its 12-foot cord and aimed out a window. Pictures from it are inferior to commercial television received in the home primarily because the camera must operate on less than seven watts of power, compared to 500 watts for a standard studio camera.

The $55 million Apollo 7 spaceship, meanwhile, sped past the million-mile mark in its planned 4½-million-mile voyage scheduled to end Oct. 22 after 163 orbits of the globe.

Schirra, 45, who is making his last space flight, said his cold was clearing up and he was feeling better. Cunningham, who earlier also had a stuffy nose, said he felt "in good shape" after taking a decongestant pill.

Space Colds, Pill Shortage Worry Doctors

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Doctors again are facing their old nemesis—the common cold—this time in space. And they're not happy about it.

Usually before a launch, astronauts are kept under wraps, their activity limited to the ready room, their meetings with others held to a minimum.

Not so the Apollo 7 trio. They ranged over the Cape Kennedy area. Walter Cunningham went water-skiing. Command Pilot Walter M. Schirra Jr. went hunting. Somewhere along the line they met a cold virus.

Space doctors aren't certain, but they figure Cunningham picked it up somewhere, passed it on to Donn F. Eisele, and it spread then to Schirra who took it into space, and nursed it these last three days.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief astronaut physician, guesses that will be the end of it. Cunningham and Eisele should have some immunity left from their pre-launch bouts with the cold virus.

Of course, that all assumes they had the same virus. If they didn't, Schirra's cold could spread to the other two, but the odds are not great, and doctors are not worried even if it does. It shouldn't interfere with the flight.

Schirra's cold is already clearing up, he reported Sunday. Doctors were more worried over a shortage of decongestant pills in the spacecraft medicine chest than they were over anything else. There were only 24 to start with, and five of them went early with Schirra's cold and Cunningham's stuffy nose caused by the oxygen atmosphere. Doctors cut Schirra's dosage from the recommended one every six hours to one every eight.

Three pills are reserved for the last day, one for each astronaut. These are to insure that the astronauts have clear heads when they begin their descent to earth.

The Apollo 7 cabin carries a pressure of five pounds per square inch, equal to air pressure at 27,500 feet.

Below that altitude, the astronauts have to adjust to the rapidly increasing pressure. If their throat and nasal membranes are stuffy due to breathing pure oxygen, they don't equalize quickly with the earth's air pressure. The result is pain. That's why the decongestants are used before re-entry.

Infantrymen Raid Viet Cong Camp; Use Navy River Boats

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen riding Navy river assault boats raided a Viet Cong base camp in a swamp 38 miles southeast of Saigon Sunday and killed 25 enemy soldiers.

The five-hour fight was one of two sharp clashes reported in the Mekong Delta in which a total of 65 Viet Cong were reported killed and 12 captured.

The U.S. troops from the 9th Infantry Division also seized four persons suspected of being Viet Cong.

Fifty miles farther south, South Vietnamese troops reported 40 Viet Cong soldiers killed and 12 captured. Most of the enemy dead were credited to American helicopter gunships spearing rockets and machine-gun fire. Government casualties were reported as "extremely light."

Hit Radar Van

A communique on the fighting around the Thuong Duc Special Forces camp in the foothills 30 miles southwest of Da Nang said U.S. Marines and Vietnamese infantrymen killed 76 North Vietnamese regulars in a string of clashes that ended Sunday.

In addition to the strikes near Thuong Duc, U.S. B52 bombers dropped about 350 tons of bombs on enemy artillery and anti-aircraft sites, truck parks, storage areas and bunker complexes 11 miles above Con Thien and farther east eight miles above the allied outpost at Gio Linh.

A military spokesman said Marine fighter-bombers attacked a radar van loaded with electronic gear that guides surface-to-air missiles to their targets. This action took place five miles from where the big bombers struck.

Russian Rockets
The spokesman said the overcast made it difficult to tell what damage was done to the

Festival Promotes Christmas Trees

KALKASKA (AP) — Michigan's Third Annual Christmas Tree Harvest Festival, highlighted by a tree bailing demonstration and parade complete with Santa Claus, will be held Nov. 23 at Kalkaska. The festival, sponsored by the Kalkaska County Chamber of Commerce, aims to promote the state as the nation's tree capital and to encourage the use of Michigan trees during the holiday season.

PANAMA (AP) — Snipers killed two Panama National Guard soldiers in a one-hour battle not far from the presidential palace Sunday night as deposed President Arnulfo Arias called on his supporters to wage "total war" against the military leaders who overthrew him.

Arias, who took refuge in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone after the coup Friday night 11 days after he took office, predicted there would be "death and desolation" unless the military chiefs who deposed him "leave the pieces they control."

Guard spokesmen said two guardsmen were killed and no others wounded in the fighting in the downtown Maranon slum district. But newsmen saw three guardsmen and a civilian hit by gun fire.

A spotter plane circled overhead as guardsmen cleared the area and imposed a curfew from 9 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. Crowds were dispersed without difficulty and quiet settled over the city as the curfew went into effect.

The guard is Panama's army.

In a broadcast message taped for a clandestine radio station, Arias said: "The time for action has come. To the streets, men and women of my country. This is the moment for going out on the streets to fight. The order of the day is to take up arms against the little group of military traitors of the fatherland."

Earlier Sunday, Col. Jose M. Pinilla, who led the coup, was

Wallace Would End 'Inept Leadership'

By The Associated Press
George C. Wallace—whose running mate heads for Vietnam tonight for a first hand report on the war—has unveiled a platform pledging states rights and efforts to restore law and order and settle the war.

The American Independent candidate said Sunday he will spell out his programs to replace "the fearful and inept leadership" of the two major parties plank - by - plank in speeches between now and election day.

Wallace's running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, leaves on a four-day war-zone inspection trip in Vietnam after saying he "very definitely" favors resumption of wide-scale bombing of North Vietnam.

Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon, meanwhile, has pledged efforts to revitalize the North Atlantic alliance in Europe if elected. And Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey has outlined anti-crime programs including a 10-fold increase in federal funds.

Wallace Platform

American Independent Wallace said the 13,000-word platform he released Sunday is aimed at restoring U.S. leadership in the world and providing Americans some hope of relief from "turmoil, frustration and confusion" which he blamed on both major parties.

Highlights included:

—A military victory in Vietnam with conventional weapons if peace negotiations fail; rid Defense Department of those who foster a "no-win" policy.

—Pursuit of peace through international cooperation and understanding to limits consistent with U.S. interests.

—Appointment of a tough attorney general; efforts to restore respect for the law and for enforcement officers, and a system of periodic reconfirmation of Supreme Court justices by the Senate and federal judges by the electorate to make them accountable for decisions.

State Powers

—Restoration to state governments of powers "unlawfully seized by the federal government"—including control of public schools, fair-housing legislation and setting of voter qualifications for state and local elections.

—Benefits for persons over age 65 including a 60 per cent increase in Social Security with a $100 monthly minimum and annual cost-of-living increases uninterrupted nursing home care under medicare for persons whose chronic illnesses require it.

LeMay To Vietnam

Wallace said in an interview with Associated Press editors he would set a time limit on Vietnam peace negotiations and seek military victory if no agreement were reached.

He told the AP editors local police should be permitted to use "whatever methods are necessary" to prevent or stop lawlessness and disorder. He said as president he would ask Congress to overturn two recent Supreme Court decisions on criminal suspects' rights which he said have helped increase the crime rate.

Former Air Force chief of staff LeMay planned to leave San Francisco about 10 p.m. tonight for Vietnam and return with his report before Wallace makes a nationwide television appearance next Sunday.

In advocating renewed wide-scale bombing of North Vietnam, LeMay said Sunday "we would have had a clear cut victory" if President Johnson had permitted bombing of the "right targets."

Work For NATO
He said the right targets would have been those whose would have cut off supplies from the Port of Haiphong and from populated centers to South Vietnam.

LeMay was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Republican Nixon's pledge to seek revitalization of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) if elected came in a paid speech broadcast by CBS radio Sunday night. He said he would seek new conversations with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Nixon said NATO "has lived from crisis to crisis" under the Johnson administration and said he is confident it could bring about "a shift of emphasis from crisis management to crisis prevention."

HHH Anti-Crime

Democrat Humphrey detailed his anticrime proposals—and accused both Nixon and Wallace of using the crime issue to play on fear—in a paid telecast Saturday night billed as a major statement on law and order.

He said as president he would ask Congress for a 10-fold increase—to $620 million—under the new Safe Streets act, largely for training of local police. The cost would be only a fraction of the $27 billion crime loss last year, he said.

The vice president repeated he would as president ask for legislation to stop guerrilla movements if a trend toward them continues and said:

"To the violent few who, through their words and actions would join guerrilla movements, I say that you are as mistaken and anti-American as the extremist white groups that would equally spread fear and violence through the land."

Firing Rockets In U-M Project

COPPER HARBOR (AP) — The rockets are roaring in the University of Michigan, Space Defense Corp. of Birmingham, the Navy and Coast Guard.

The first rocket was fired into the atmosphere at about 22,000 feet. It traveled about 35 miles east of the point. The rocket ejected a parachute which carried weather observation equipment and issued radio signals to the tracking points.

More than 20 additional shots are planned. The launch site is about eight miles east of Copper Harbor in a densely wooded, uninhabited area. The plot of 200 acres used for the tests was donated to U-M by the Calumet Division of Universal Oil Products which holds extensive copper mining interests in the Upper Peninsula.

LANSING (AP) — A one-mile section of I 75 in Saginaw will be closed for about three weeks beginning Oct. 21, the State Highway Department said. During the work, which involves construction of an I 675 Business Loop, southbound traffic will be detoured to the northbound lanes on weekdays, the department added.

"We do not believe in staying in power indefinitely," he said. "This is but an historical parenthesis which would end as soon as the conditions of law and order are restored."

Pinilla named eight civilians from all three major parties to his cabinet.

The new government said Arias was overthrown because he attempted to "destroy representative democracy." The message said Arias "violated the constitution by r

Half Of Loggers Gone In 2 Years

By JEAN WORTH

There are half as many loggers in the Lake States — Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota — as in 1966, says Lloyd Palmer, editor of the Timber Producer, the monthly magazine of the Timber Producers Association of Michigan and Wisconsin.

And, he suggests, the reduction in numbers of the men who produce sawtimber, pulpwood, cedar and other forest products may be larger than that.

"And we may be able to sacrifice some more of our woods help," he says.

His studies of the results of mechanization of the wood harvest agree with those of other commentators on wood industry, but go beyond the dimensions ascribed by most to the change.

Wood Surplus

The current situation has been aggravated by a surplus of pulpwood in the Lake States and a resulting shutdown of many logging operations, but even without this temporary glut and retrenchment, says Palmer, our logging has entered a new era in which it will never again use as many workers. They simply aren't needed; fewer men with more machines can do the work that they used to perform with their muscles.

The hard chase for profits in industry is speeding along the change from the big crew of lumberjacks to the small number of men operating harvest-

No Salmon Yet; Concern Voiced For Local Plant

The failure of coho salmon to show up in any numbers in Little Bay de Noc this fall is beginning to cause some concern among area fishermen. After a planting of 100,000 coho in the Haymeadow Creek last spring, about five per cent of the salmon were expected to return to Little Bay de Noc and the Whitefish River system this fall in the run of "jacks".

Conservation Dept. biologists anticipated the run would begin in September, but no reports of coho salmon catches on hook and line in Little Bay de Noc have been confirmed and only two cohos believed to be from the Whitefish planting have been taken in Conservation Dept. nets.

The "jack" salmon are termed "precocious males" who return to their stream of origin a year in advance of the main body of spawning fish.

Two Fish Taken

Cliff Long, conservation fish biologist with the Escanaba district, said two jack salmon have been taken in the department net which was set off Stony Point on Stonington.

He said the fish were positively identified as "jacks" and almost certainly are from the spring planting at Haymeadow Creek.

Two other cohos were taken in the nets, but both were adult "strays" from other plantings, Long reported.

Despite the absence of a jack run as yet, Long said he is still hoping the fish show up in the Little Bay de Noc area this fall. He pointed out that "jack" salmon runs in other areas also have been slow.

Fishermen, however, are concerned about the success of the Haymeadow planting and are fearful that if the "jack" run fails to appear this year that the main run expected next fall also might not materialize.

Discount Predation

Several theories on the fate of the Haymeadow coho planting have been expounded. Department biologists discount the idea that the 100,000 cohos could have been victimized by a large northern pike population in the bay, pointing out that allowances were made in the planting for a certain amount of predation.

Reports have been made, however, that some young coho salmon were taken by commercial fishermen this spring during the smelt run.

Another possible explanation for the absence of coho salmon in Little Bay de Noc is that the fish were hatched and reared at the Thompson hatchery and developed their "homing instinct" to Thompson Creek so strongly that it would overpower the instinct to return to the planting site in the Haymeadow.

Fishermen are hoping, however, that the coho are simply "slow" this fall and still will show up.

Women Voters Meet Tonight

Water resources and fair housing will be topics of discussion of the League of Women Voters of Escanaba this week.

The League supports programs for management of water resources and improvement of water quality. Mrs. David Farrand, water resources study item chairman, will examine the national picture on water and discuss its natural uses. Mrs. James Boynton will discuss industrial aspects of water uses and pollution. The committee will also present the terms of the clean water bond issue to appear on the ballot Nov. 5.

The League does not support parties or candidates, but it does work for specific issues after thorough study and consensus by its members. The League urges support of the clean water bond issue.

The League has expanded the scope of its human resources item, which included equality of opportunity for education and employment for all people, to include equality of opportunity for adequate housing. During the next two years the League will study and evaluate the best means of achieving equality of opportunity for housing.

Mrs. Steven Froum and her committee consisting of Mrs. James Fitzharris and Mrs. Albert Halci will define fair housing and discuss housing availability on the local level. They will also present the new fair housing legislation on the state and national levels.

The meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, 1815 Lake Shore Drive, tonight at 8 o'clock. This year the Escanaba League will meet in an evening only. There will be no Wednesday morning meeting. The League will continue to meet twice a month, on the second and fourth Monday evenings.

Interested women who would like to see the League in action are invited to attend. Those who would like to arrange transportation may call Mrs. William Taylor, 786-1123, or Mrs. Albert Halci, 425-3571.

Bay Cliff Helps Delta Children

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles about the agencies and organizations which benefit from the Delta United Services drive.)

Sixteen handicapped children from Delta County participated in a seven-week physical and occupational therapy program at Bay Cliff Health Camp this summer.

Their attendance at the therapy sessions was made possible because it was financed by a group of people who still believe that charity begins at home — a few thousand non-handicapped Delta County adults.

Bay Cliff, a non-profit, non-denominational summer therapy center for physically-handicapped Upper Peninsula children of all ages, is financed in part with contributions from the Delta United Services fund drive, which began today, for one simple reason: there is no other source of revenue. Incorporated in 1938 with monies from the Rackham Foundation and the Couzens Funds, the health camp now depends upon direct citizen contribution for the maintenance of its program, because the funds and grants have long since expired.

Costs About $400

Yet, the self-improvement program of the summer session costs about $400 per child for the seven-week term, which means that Delta County will be expected to raise $6,400 if it wants to send 16 of its children to the camp next summer.

The dollar-for-dollar return on the investment, however, is a modern-day bargain, in terms of offered services and tangible results. For each $400 contributed, a Delta County boy or girl (of any age) can benefit from the following Bay Cliff programs during the summer of 1969:

- Remedial reading, the re-teaching of skills which a child needs to attack new and unfamiliar words in order that the printed page will be meaningful to him.
- Physical therapy, the improvement of posture, coordination, balance, muscle function and strength.
- Occupational therapy, prescribed exercises and goals for each orthopedic camper in the context of games and projects.
- Speech therapy, including problems of the cleft palate, stuttering, articulation, "delayed" language, hearing, cerebral palsy and combinations of the above.
- Dental programs, which provide oral examinations, X-rays and cleaning for the campers, some of whom have never received dental treatment.

Activities Listed

Also included in the program are hearing therapy, supervised arts and crafts classes, recreation classes, swimming instruction, outdoor camping and special events, including parades, round-ups, Saturday afternoon movies, Sunday religious services and a birthday party for every camper.

From these activities, says Camp Director John A. Vargo, each child should receive "an improved self-image, enriching experiences, guided learning experiences, opportunities for self-expression, and improved communication skills."

For $400, that's not bad.

Honored For Service:

Embs Is Named 'Amvet Of Year'

George Embs, past commander, life member and one of six original members of AMVETS Post 123 was awarded the "AMVET of the Year" trophy at the Post's annual installation banquet at the Terrace Saturday evening.

Outgoing Commander Robert Saykly made the presentation and lauded Embs for his "many fine deeds both within the Post and also in the community."

A trophy for signing up the most members went to incoming Commander Clarence Raeder and gifts were given to Art LaFave who drove the AMVETS stock car all season, and to the 19 people who donated their time during the stock car races held for the benefit of the Kidney Machine Fund.

Michigan Department Commander Vince Humphries of Detroit installed the new officers: Clarence Raeder, commander; Rodney Rousseau, senior vice commander; Paul Dubord, Jr., vice commander; George Embs, finance officer; Don Koish, adjutant; Nick Chapekis, judge advocate; and Harry Viau and Bill Nault, provost marshals.

Look To Future

Don Koish, toastmaster for the occasion, introduced Lt. Col. James Wren (U.S. Army Ret.) who spoke of "A time for a new beginning."

Col. Wren, a veteran of some 20 years of service, spoke of "freedom" and "opportunity."

"Our time to enjoy freedom and opportunity grows shorter. Time has passed all too quickly for those of us who would look back . . . and it is always too soon to look back. Rather, we must look ahead . . . for our future depends upon what we do today and tomorrow. And our future is neither personal nor private. It is America's future," he said.

"War is not good but the alternative of surrender of personal freedom will be tempered and tested by those who would not have us free."

Educate For Action

"We have the choice and the freedom to choose: Opportunity or security. If we choose security, then we must subsequently recognize a loss of personal freedom. Security is a state of mind perpetuated by organizations, institutions and government and not a state of being," Col. Wren continued.

"If we chose opportunity we will recognize our personal freedom and responsibility. Our dependence then is upon preparation, education and self."

"Opportunity is the essence of the spirit and of the adventure which is our country's inheritance and our future."

"Opportunity is in our future and opportunity requires personal preparation. Our personal preparation has begun. Our education must become engaged with the world as we will experience it. Our actions must be enforced by knowledge. Our education must become personally relevant, meaningful, and a guide to opportunity," Wren said.

Twenty-two other Michigan chapters, in meetings during the week, will join a worldwide membership of 35 million in this 20th annual observance of the founding of credit unions 120 years ago.

"A salute to truth in lending" will be one emphasis in the Michigan celebrations. "We are paying tribute," said Meissner, "to Congressional leaders and to their acknowledgment of the credit union role in an eight-year campaign to secure passage of the truth-in-lending law."

The "Consumer Credit Protection Act," popularly known as the truth-in-lending bill, was signed by President Johnson on May 29, 1968. Most of its provisions are to take effect July 1, 1969.

Youths Pay For Doe, Fines Too

Three Rapid River area youths who shot a doe on the Stonington Peninsula and who were arrested there by conservation officers on Sept. 27, have paid fines and costs in Justice Ross Davis court at Gladstone and $100 for the deer in liquidation charges besides.

Dennis J. Hebert, 17, of Rte. 3, Steven D. Cole, 17, of Box 24A, and Michael J. Rasmuson, 17, of Rte. 3, all of Rapid River, were charged with possession of a doe in the closed season. They were each fined $50 and $7.30 court costs, and given 5 day jail sentences. The jail terms and $25 of the fine was suspended, but each was assessed $33.33 for liquidation damages to make up the $100 fee for the deer. They also lost hunting privileges for three years.

Patrick Bodey, 24, of 427 S. 12th St., charged with possession of an uncased firearm in a car was fined $18.80 by Davis on Oct. 2.

Blastoff At Clevenger Fund Dinner

Erlandsen Says Ruppe Is Buying The Election

By JIM TRETHERWAY
OF PANAX NEWSPAPERS

MARQUETTE — Four Democratic state lawmakers from the Upper Peninsula joined Saturday in an appeal for support of Raymond F. Clevenger's bid to regain the 11th Congressional seat.

The strongest blast at Clevenger's Republican opponent was fired by Einar Erlandsen of Escanaba, who, like Clevenger, is seeking a return to active legislative affairs, but at the state level. Erlandsen expressed belief that U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) "was spending $400,000 on this campaign."

References to Ruppe's expenditures were made by other speakers. Billie Farnum, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee and a former state auditor general, was the principal speaker at the fund raising dinner for Clevenger at the Northwoods Supper Club. Farnum said that Ruppe was getting money for his campaign from a $4.6 million fund raised by a national Republican group to help re-elect GOP congressmen.

"Dirty Shame"

"When are we going to cut the cost of these campaigns?" Erlandsen asked. "It's a dirty shame that money is going to be the determining factor rather than the record of service."

Also speaking on Clevenger's behalf were State Senator Joseph S. Mack, (Ironwood) and Reps. Dominic J. Jacobetti, Ne-gaunee, Jack Gingrass, Iron Mountain, and Russell Hellman of Dollar Bay.

Jacobetti delivered an impassioned plea for all Democratic party workers of the district to help elect Clevenger, because, he said, the Sault Ste. Marie man's defeat in 1966 could be blamed on the persons who did not vote.

Kelley Toastmaster

Michigan Atty. General Frank Kelley, who was toastmaster, called on Richard Nixon, Republican presidential nominee, "to offer to the American people the same kind of good deals Nixon is secretly offering to the special interests." Kelley said that Nixon should speak out "on the major issues of our time with the same clarity with which he has spoken in secret to the securities industry and airline industry, promising them easier regulation if he is elected."

Kelley said that if all of the U.P. wants to be in the Eastern Time Zone it will have to petition the U.S. Department of Transportation for a change. It is now in the Central Time Zone, while the Lower Peninsula is in the Eastern Zone.

Backs Two Bills

Clevenger, who represented the 11th District in Congress for the 1965-66 term, is a Sault Ste. Marie attorney. He called on Saturday, but not at the $35-per-couple fund raising dinner for him at the Northwoods, for enactment of two laws designed to protect steel and iron ore workers in Michigan and throughout the country.

At the same time he attacked his Republican opponent for failure to act on the measures. He called his opponent, "A talker, not a doer, a man who promises but who doesn't perform."

"If I am elected to the Congress," Clevenger stated, "I will do more than pay lip service to these vital measures. I pledge that I will work to get them passed, to get them enacted into law and to get them functioning to protect the workers of this district."

"These are economic proposals to better the lot of the working man," said Clevenger, "and I'm all for that," in giving his support to a measure for protecting iron and steel workers' jobs against foreign competition.

Steel Quota

The steel and iron ore quota bill introduced by Congressman Vanik of Ohio seeks flexible quotas on iron and steel to regulate imports of foreign made steel products. The law would prevent job losses among American iron and steel workers who are now imperiled by increases in the importation of iron and steel.

The second measure endorsed by Clevenger is the Welfare and Pension Protection Plan Act, aimed at preventing pension plans from being wiped out by

Early Days At Stonington Is History Topic

The history of the Stonington Peninsula will be presented to the program meeting of the Delta County Historical Society to be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, in the Chamber of Commerce building at Escanaba.

Participating in the program will be Peder Pedersen, Stonington community leader, member of a pioneer family, and for many years supervisor of Bay de Noc Township; and Mrs. Willmer Larsen, whose family is also among Stonington pioneers, and who has researched and written of Stonington history.

Arrangements for the program were made by Charles Folio, Escanaba, who will introduce the speakers and conduct an informal interview to bring out the story of the early days at Stonington.

Members are invited to bring friends and their will be coffee after the program.

companies going bankrupt. "There is no reason," Clevenger stated, "why pensions for workers cannot be insured just like bank deposits are presently insured under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp."

"Not long ago in Champlain, Mich., we witnessed the tragic results of a company filing bankruptcy and thereby wiping out the carefully saved up pensions of many miners who had counted on those funds for their retirement."

Recreation Bonds

Proposal No. 4 on the Nov. 5 ballot proposes a $100 million bond issue to finance a broad program of recreational development in Michigan.

(A separate companion proposal, No. 3, would bond the state for $335 million for a state-wide program of assistance to local water and sewage treatment utilities to create — with federal assistance — clean waters. This anti-pollution measure will be discussed separately.)

Proposal No. 4 is reported in difficulties in the straw polls that have been conducted downstate, and so is Proposal 3.

Both serve urgent public needs and will effect economies in government spending and should be passed. Their problem is not one of appeal, but one of gaining sufficient understanding to win support over natural voter inclination to vote "No" on money matters which aren't understood.

Proposal No. 4 is not as urgent as No. 3, the pure water bonding, but it is still urgent.

Our own Glenn C. Gregg from the Upper Peninsula, deputy director of recreation for the Michigan Conservation Department, has been a leader in the development of this program. His immense usefulness to the Upper Peninsula is now having its counterpart in the leadership which he is giving Michigan statewide.

Gregg says that pay-as-you-go financing has been rejected in planning for this program and bonding proposed for the following reasons:

1. "We're dealing with a scarce commodity — ownership of lands with waterfront. It's increasingly hard to get such lands into state ownership without condemnation that ousts people from their homes and the state is reluctant to do this. The cost of the strategic lands that we need to complete our state recreational establishment is going up at the rate of 10 per cent a year.

2. "The Conservation Department turned away 50,000 campers this year in its state parks. This is not the number of campers turned away, but the number of camping parties! You multiply this number by four to get the number of campers who couldn't find places in our overcrowded camps. The bonding would finance the provision of more camps, right now, when we need them."

To delay this program, said Gregg, would mean that the public would eventually pay more for less.

This recreation bond program is not a thing in itself, it's a step in a federal-state program. When the people of Michigan vote it they will qualify Michigan for federal funds under the Federal Land & Water Conservation Fund Act of 1964 designed to assure the acquisition of recreational land before it becomes unavailable or too expensive. Federal funds match state funds under this act 50-50.

There would also be federal aid under the Pittman-Robertson Act and the Anadromous Fish Fund Act.

Of the $100 million, $40.8 million would go to a park acquisition program that would total $66.4 million.

Fisheries development costing $23.7 million (including new hatcheries for cohos) would get $17.7 million from bonds.

Land acquisitions for wildlife — including Northern Michigan lands for deer — would cost $14 million, of which $7.5 million would be bond funds.

State forest development of trails, campsites, etc., would cost $4.5 million of which $4 million would be bonds.

Grants to local communities for creation of parks and other recreational facilities would cost $60 million, of which $30 million would be from the bond issue.

The planners say that expiring state bond issues and increased state tax income will make it possible to finance these bond issues with no new taxes.

It is a very poor time to economize by voting "No". Benefits that will enrich Michigan forever can be financed now by voting "Yes".

The War Issue

The Vietnam war, which loomed as the No. 1 issue before the Presidential campaign has not developed as the top issue, at least not on the surface, although it probably is the No. 1 issue in an underground sort of way that influences thinking even while it may not stimulate political conversation.

The war has developed into the longest and one of the costliest conflicts that this nation has ever engaged in. It has resulted in the withdrawal of President Johnson from consideration for another term. It remains our greatest foreign problem while constituting one of our most divisive and demanding influences in domestic affairs.

But as a political issue it isn't getting top treatment.

Vice President Humphrey's recent statement that he would conditionally halt the bombing of North Vietnam can hardly be called a radical departure from President Johnson's oft-stated policy.

Republican nominee Richard Nixon sticks to his original position that the war is not a suitable subject for discussion or debate as long as the Paris peace talks continue, although even some of his supporters have chided him for using the talks as a shield from comment.

Candidate George Wallace has been disposing of the whole thing by saying that he would leave it up to the generals. But since announcing that retired Air Force General Curtis LeMay is his choice for vice president, he has been trying to muzzle old "Ironpants" so he won't blow up Wallace's boom with a bomb scare the way that Barry Goldwater did in his campaign.

A cartoonist caricatured Wallace's platform by showing Wallace expounding a domestic policy of "Run over 'em" (demonstrators) and LeMay expounding a foreign policy of "Bomb 'em." The war will be an issue when people vote Nov. 5 and especially when Congress reconvenes in January.

The New Pill

Campaign Speaking Isn't Saying Much

Each of the major presidential candidates has done a lot of talking—but not one of them has said anything, according to a University of Michigan political scientist.

The issues in the 1968 election campaign are so complex that open discussion would alienate large segments of the population, says Prof. John Dempsey of the University of Michigan Dearborn campus. Many people are against the war in Vietnam, in favor of social justice, but against strong "law and order" legislation. Others are in favor of the war and stronger law enforcement but are not interested in racial equality.

Somehow, says Dempsey, a candidate running for major political office has to discuss the problems of the times openly without actually committing himself to solutions or saying anything to offend the electorate. Moreover, he has to discuss the problems and offer acceptable generalities with confidence and self-assurance.

Without Disturbing
Dempsey says Republican candidate Richard Nixon is trying to conduct a flawless campaign without offering any disturbing solutions.

According to the professor, Nixon's strategy is to appeal to the voter's discontent without inflaming it. He points out that the country is in difficulty and needs new leadership, without offering, at the same time, any concrete solutions to the problems.

Doe Hunting Permits Drawn

LANSING (AP) — Tim Gales of Hancock was the first hunter to be awarded an antlerless deer hunting permit in a computer drawing by the State Conservation Department which began Friday.

Eston Van Kleek of Pontiac was drawn second. A woman hunter, Ella Ransom of Flint, was third.

Gales received a permit to hunt for any deer in portions of Houghton, Ontonagon and Gogebic counties.

The computer will draw the names of nearly 180,000 hunters to be allowed special permits during the Nov. 15-30 deer season. The drawing is not expected to be complete before next Tuesday.

The shooting of does and fawns as well as bucks is allowed to take extra deer that might die during the winter because of food shortages or that have been causing crop damage.

All applicants for the permits, whether successful or not, will be notified by Oct. 25. Unsuccessful applicants can apply again for the few areas where the number of permits exceeds the number of applicants. These areas all are in the Upper Peninsula.

Those seeking a permit a second time must have their applications in by Oct. 30.

The war known as the French and Indian War in America was a prelude to and part of the war known in Europe as the Seven Years' War.

Dempsey says Nixon gently avoids offering any solution to the war in Vietnam; he sidesteps the issue by saying he doesn't want to affect the negotiations in Paris.

But as a practical matter, Dempsey says, there is nothing wrong in avoiding the issues if the candidate wants to win. Even Franklin D. Roosevelt would have had difficulty in 1932 if he had given all the details of the New Deal during the campaign.

Avoiding Mistakes
Nixon is being careful not to make a mistake. He conducts his campaign lightly, making only a few personal appearances and speeches a day, but each public appearance is at a time and place to assure maximum exposure.

Dempsey says Nixon now as an experienced and seasoned campaigner who will not be tripped by the same mistakes that cost him the 1960 election.

Dempsey says Hubert Humphrey's Democratic campaign may appear to be in difficulty now, but is picking up steam and starting to roll.

The professor notes that more voters are registered as Democrats than as Republicans, but Humphrey's big job is getting the Democrats out to vote. As a rule, the percentage of voting Democrats is lower than the percentage of voting Republicans.

To move the Democratic voter, Humphrey has continued to stress that all the major economic advances in the United States in the past 35 years are results of Democratic administrations. "Humphrey, again and again, tells the voter that if he doesn't vote the Republicans will win," Dempsey notes.

Not His Own Man
Unfortunately, Humphrey cannot be his own man. Dempsey says that if the vice president takes a Vietnam stand contrary to the Administration's, the President will then have to Oswald: "He didn't revoke but he made a play that was almost as bad when I gave him a chance on the theory that any time you give a man a chance to make a mistake, he may do so. He won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, led a club and won the trick with the ace after I played the queen. Midge Cutler of Dallas, who was West, played the seven. Now see if you can work out the rest of the play."

South must have played the three or trumps. Midge would go up with the ace and lead her three of clubs. You would take your king and give her a ruff. You would play your deuce as a suit preference signal to get her to play another diamond. You would ruff dummy's king and lead a spade to Midge's ace. She would play her 10 of diamonds and declarer would be down one. Now where did you get another trick? Don't tell me! You must have ruffed her trick and led the 10 of spades. Right?"

Oswald: "Right. South had shown up with three clubs and it looked as if he was going to show up with three diamonds. If he held five trumps, he would only hold two spades and we weren't going to get another trick in any event. If he only held four trumps, he would have three spades and Midge would only have two. If her other spade were the queen, his only normal play would be to lead his low spade to dummy's king, whereupon her queen would drop. So I ruffed my partner's trick and led the 10 of spades."

Jim: "As you pointed out, South should not have covered your 10 with his jack. If you held the queen of spades, you would not have gone out of your way to end-play yourself by ruffing her trick."

Ann Landers

15-Year-Old Thinks Hippies' Ideals Fine

Dear Ann Landers: I am only 15 and haven't formed solid ideas about a lot of things. One thing I am really undecided about is the hippies. It seems to me they stand for love and peace. Is that bad? In these times when there is so much unrest in the world — so much hate and killing and anger — isn't love a good thing to talk up? What's bad about people handing each other flowers?

Why are some people against the hippies? Maybe the hippies are the answer to the world's problems. I don't think I've ever seen anything about hippies in your column. Please tell me what you think about them.—WILLING TO LEARN

Dear Willing: I'm for peace and love, and I like flowers as well as the next person, but I also believe in work, soap and water, reality and doing something constructive to make this a better world. Lying in the grass in groups, shunning employment, smoking pot and freaky out, solves no problems.

The hippies have nothing to offer but criticism. They are cop-outs and moochers. What they call love is often a temporary feeling of euphoria produced by drugs. At the beginning of the hippie movement many sincere people were impressed with their idealism and applauded their protest against the ugliness of the world. But as time passed, it became clear that the true idealists were grossly outnumbered by the phonies, the hop heads and the cowards who flocked to the scene.

Dear Ann Landers: In July of last year, our church organist began to put on weight. Two months later she quit her job, left town and the word got around that she had given birth to a child.

This woman is no teen-ager. She is nearly 30 and old enough to know better than to get into a jam like that. She gave the baby away like it was a cat or a dog.

Now the grand lady of the manor has returned to the city thin as a rail and her hair is a different color. She smiles a lot and acts as if she has had a six-month vacation in Switzerland. Everyone is supposed to accept her, ask no questions and play dumb.

Why should she get away with such immoral behavior? Now it is the townspeople who are on trial. It suddenly becomes OUR responsibility to be gracious and overlook everything.

Don't tell me to mind my own business. This person happens to be my cousin and therefore what she does IS my business. Do you have an answer?—SUNFLOWER

Dear Sun: What would you like the woman to do—wear a scarlet letter and hold a question-and-answer forum in the main lobby of the Post Office every morning between 10:00 a. m. and noon?

Instead of giving her credit for holding her head up, you seem annoyed that her unfortunate experience didn't crush her spirit and wreck her life. People like you give me indigestion.

Confidential to Thumbs Up Or Down: I'd say thumbs sideways on this one. Legally you can do it—but morally and taste-wise you'd be a rotten egg.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

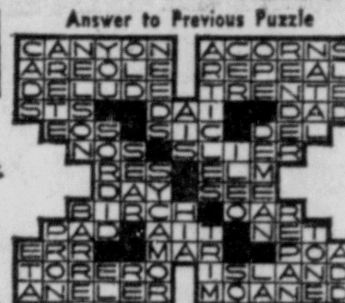

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Propose Revision Of Lumber Standards

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Three major lumber trade associations endorsed proposals Friday for revised American lumber standards.

They agreed on presenting these recommendations to the American Lumber Standards Committee.

—That size be related to moisture content.

—That a special committee be established to develop national grading rules for dimension lumber.

—That a technically sound basis be used for determining uniform working stresses for lumber of the same species or group of species.

The agencies approving the recommendations were the Southern Pine Inspection Bureau, the West Coast Lumber Inspection Bureau and the Western Wood Products Association.

They held a press conference in Portland Friday with lumber industry magazine editors.

Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., called Thursday for a Justice Department investigation of segments of the U.S. lumber industry.

In a speech in the House of Representatives, he said the three agencies met in San Francisco Oct. 1 and Oct. 2 "apparently to agree upon sizes, as well as strength and stiffness values, for all softwood lumber produced in the entire United States."

He said he would ask Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to determine whether anti-trust laws have been violated. There is a direct relationship, he said, between assigned strength and stiffness values and prices.

Dingell is chairman of a House Small Business Subcommittee that has been investigating softwood lumber standards.

Negro Mayor Is Stepping Down

FLINT (AP) — Floyd J. McCree, the first Negro mayor of Flint, says he does not want another term as mayor, but desires to remain on the Flint City Commission and concentrate his efforts for the next two years on problems of his predominantly Negro ward.

He is unopposed for a sixth consecutive term as a member of the city commission from the Third Ward in the Nov. 5 election.

The 44-year-old McCree told the Flint Journal that "I am not a candidate for mayor or mayor pro-tem. I have been thinking this over for a month and although I have not even told my wife about it, my mind is made up."

THESE 12 BOYS, aged 9 to 15, appeared in District Court in Guthrie Center, Iowa, this week where a judge awarded them 40 per cent of the $11,524.91 buried treasure they found in 1965. Then the American Red Cross took action to claim the entire sum. The owner of the property where the treasure was found had willed his estate to the Red Cross. ## Early Apple Market Hurts State Growers

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Apples on your grocer's shelf can mean bad business for Michigan's apple industry—if the fruit appears too early.

Possible problems stem from the fact the earliest apples bring the best prices because there are fewer of them.

And some growers, aiming for those top prices, "feel that the apples are ripe if they can get $5 a bushel for them," says Glen Antle, a Michigan State University district marketing agent. But sometimes, those apples are not really ripe, he adds.

"There have been some instances when immature apples would lie on the shelves and shrivel up because the customers didn't like the sour, astringent fruit," Antle says.

That gives Michigan apples a bad image and buyers will be less likely to select a Michigan product in the future if they've had complaints about it.

Thus Michigan's Apple Maturity Committee, of which Antle is chairman, aims to protect and promote a good image by setting harvest dates for leading varieties of the state's apple crop—McIntosh, Jonathan and Red Delicious.

The dates are publicized to both growers and buyers through trade journals, mailers and the press.

Buyers welcome the committee's scientifically computed dates, Antle says, because they can be nearly assured that the apples will be ripe and good for sale when the group says they will be.

Antle says the committee-set dates have never been more than three days earlier or later than the ideal one determined after harvest was under way.

Most growers—about 98 per cent, Antle says—abide by the dates also, although the committee "hasn't always been 100 per cent popular." Some growers at first resented the committee attempts to tell them when it was best to harvest apples.

"But," Antle says, "the whole idea behind this isn't to keep growers from selling apples when they are ready. It's to improve the image of Michigan apples by making sure they are ready for market when they are harvested."

"And this," he says, "benefits the entire industry."

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Rev. Robert Nikliborc

Priest Leading Double Life

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest who runs an orphanage in the desert says he used more than one name and lives in an expensive house in the nearby resort of Palm Springs. But he denies any impropriety in this and denies government assertions that he led a second life and failed to file income tax returns on nearly $120,000.

The U.S. attorney's office says the Rev. Robert Nikliborc, 37, maintained a $75,000 home under the name Robert Drew Rand. Neighbors said they knew the owner of the house as Bob Rand, a wealthy, married semi-retired electronics executive.

Father Nikliborc, 37, is charged with willfully failing to file income tax returns for 1963-65, a misdemeanor.

"Any statement that my gross earnings were $119,960.44 is without foundation," the priest replied Friday through his lawyer. "I am informed and believe I was not required to file a return in those years."

The lawyer who issued the statement, Thomas Baird, wouldn't say where the priest was.

Meanwhile, the state attorney general's office said it is reopening a years-old investigation of fund-raising on behalf of Boys Town of the Desert at Banning, about 70 miles east of Los Angeles. Father Nikliborc is president and financial director of the orphanage.

Father Nikliborc said in his statement: "I am commonly known as Father Robert, Father Robert Rand or Father Robert Nikliborc, whichever people find easier to pronounce."

He said that he maintains his Palm Springs home with the consent of the San Diego diocese, that a statement on the house deed calling Robert Rand married is a misprint and that the woman the neighbors thought was his wife was a housekeeper. Other priests use a chapel at the house, he said.

The diocese and the orphanage had no comment. "He's a fund raiser," said Baird. "He travels all over the United States. He is primarily responsible for putting that home on its feet."

The orphanage can care for 65 boys. Father Nikliborc, who grew up in Chicago, was graduated in 1951 from St. Mary's of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein, Ill. Of six brothers and sisters, one is a nun, one a priest.

Arraignment is scheduled for Oct. 31.

MANISTIQUE

LAKE MICHIGAN FISHERMAN displays coho salmon, hottest attraction in Great Lakes.

Big Fish Tale: Coho Salmon!

MADISON, Wis. — (NEA) — One of the nation's friendliest battles is being fought with fishing lures and tourist dollars on the shores of Lake Michigan, new home of the coho salmon.

The coho, or silver salmon, currently ranks only behind clean, fresh water as the panacea for Michigan and the other Great Lakes. Imported from its native Pacific Ocean by Michigan in 1966, the coho is fast earning a reputation as the scrappiest big gamefish in inland waters — the ferocious muskellunge excluded.

Coho action is heaviest in Lake Michigan where anglers are flocking to lakeside towns in Michigan and Wisconsin to launch small fishing fleets or wade shoulder-to-shoulder near creek mouths and lake bays. Fishermen at Bayfield, Wis., and Thompson and the Manistee-Frankfort area of Michigan have been hooking cohos averaging about 7 pounds.

Economy Surges

By next year, their catches are expected to weigh out to 12 or 20 pounds. Meanwhile, the local economy is reacting to the new recreational surge as motelmens ring up $14 sales for rooms, boat captains haul in $100 daily for chartered coho forays.

"The fishing is fabulous," raves John Brauch of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Fish Management.

"About 35 per cent of the coho stocked in 1966 already have been caught, some 700,000 of them by sport anglers. Many of these fish weighed 12 pounds," Brauch added.

In Lake Michigan, where lake trout and the monstrous Chinook salmon also are being stocked, coho feed mainly on alewives, a species which has become a nuisance through sheer abundance.

So enthused about the gamefish is Wisconsin, which stocked 25,000 coho last spring and is holding 225,000 more for future release, that planning for the state's first Lake Michigan fishery is under way — a project expected to cost more than $2.2 million.

Ontario And Erie

The economics of coho for sport and business appeal to all the Great Lakes States.

"Within 10 years, coho could be the major gamefish on the lakes," Brauch said.

Ohio has purchased 200,000 coho eggs for use in Lake Erie and New York has similar stocking plans for Lake Ontario.

Fighting ability and the promise of hook-bending size — such as the 23-pounder recently caught in Lake Michigan — are already part of the coho mystique.

"They don't just fight like rainbow, brown and lake trout," a coho angler exclaimed recently, "they leap and twist and do their best to tangle your line. After you think they're worn out, be careful how you handle them because even a slight touch by your boat will send them leaping six feet in the air."

Frosh Gridders Wind Up Season

Manistique's freshmen squad will close their season on Wednesday with a game against Escanaba's Holy Name in A. F. Hall Stadium at 7 p.m.

Athletic director Richard Bonifas said that the Manistique freshmen squad has shown continuous improvement under John Stapleton. The youthful Emeralds are hoping to conclude their season with a victory.

Detroit Trade For Sports Stadium

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh revealed Friday his hopes that the city can complete a trade of land with the Penn Central Railroad that would lead to construction of a multi-million-dollar sports stadium in the downtown area.

Cavanagh said he hoped the city could give the railroad 12 acres of vacant city and state land west of the Detroit civic center. It has been proposed that the Penn Central build a hotel on the site.

A stadium with retractable dome, costing an estimated $35 million to $45 million, would be built on a 60-acre site on the Detroit river in the vicinity of the civic center.

Cavanagh said he recently discussed the plan with Michigan Gov. George Romney. A committee named by Romney recommended a stadium in the Detroit area be built at Woodward Avenue fair grounds.

Cavanagh said he and Romney agreed the various proposals should be discussed "as quickly as possible."

Paper Headache For Brokerages

NEW YORK (AP) — The resolution of paper problems in the nation's stock brokerage industry is turning out to be an even more painful and frustrating process than was foreseen.

Headway is being made when compared with the crisis days of July, and some long range changes in work methods are being made that assure better bookkeeping in the future.

But, in the words of Lee D. Arning, vice president of the New York Stock Exchange, who is optimistic over the long term, the immediate progress hasn't been satisfactory.

Sources close to the situation now estimate that little or no advance was made during September in bringing records up to date and in getting overdue stock certificates into the hands of their owners.

Lack Clerks

Main obstacles to progress have been the inability to find experienced clerks to process paperwork, and the renewed surge in trading volume.

Average daily volume in September rose to 13.4 million shares from 10.7 million in August. The larger figure cannot yet be handled smoothly. While the old backlog was being reduced, therefore, more paper was being piled on.

High volume, however, is something the exchanges now realize will be around for a while. Up to April 1, the busiest day on the New York Exchange was Black Tuesday, the day of the big crash on Oct. 29, 1929. But since April 1 the figure has been topped 14 times.

Because of such pressure, stock certificates that should flow smoothly from seller to broker to bank to broker to buyer become clogged in the pipeline, misrouted, delayed and lost.

Fail To Deliver

Because of high volume, the August figure of $3.1 billion worth of overdue stock certificates—called fails because the selling broker has failed to deliver them to the buying broker within five days—is expected to rise.

Last Thursday was the final day for brokers to report their September total of outstanding fails. Results won't be released until later this week, but a sampling of 55 firms indicates that ground might have been lost.

This perhaps was the major factor in decisions by the major exchanges to continue Wednesday closings through October. Earlier they had hoped for a return to normal length trading weeks by mid-month.

Parolee Killed In Gun Battle

LANSING (AP) — A 66-year-old man, recently released from Jackson state prison, was shot to death by Lansing policemen in a gun battle in which one officer was wounded late Saturday, police reported Sunday.

A statement released by Lansing police Sunday said that the victim Eddie J.B. Daniels, was shot twice by officers when he came out of a kitchen with a loaded .12 gauge shotgun at a home.

Lansing policeman Thomas Bolan earlier had been wounded, but not seriously, by the man, police said.

Daniels had been twice convicted of felonies and was recently released from Jackson prison where he served a term for assault with intent to murder, police said.

Bolan and policeman Leith

Curtis said they were told Daniels had a gun after entering a house in a response to a call from the telephone company of a disturbance.

Police said Bolan ordered Daniels to slowly remove the .22 revolver from his pocket.

When Bolan tried to holster his gun, it fell on the floor and he stooped over to pick it up. Daniels then grabbed his revolver from the table and shot Bolan, police said.

Bolan returned the fire, grazing Daniel's left shoulder. Daniels then ran into the kitchen and yelled at a woman in the room with police, Mrs. Velma Moore, that he was going to kill her for calling authorities, police said.

Police said they pulled Mrs. Moore to safety. Daniels then came out of the kitchen with the shotgun and was shot to death, police said.

The police did not release any details of the disturbance and the connection between the woman and the victim.

Molin Tells Republican Change In Congress Race

After the 1964 fiasco, the Republican party had to rebuild its organization and develop a new public image for the candidates.

The Republicans stressed youth, local identification, fresh approaches, and imagination as prerequisites for candidacy.

Keith Molin, executive director of the Wayne County Republican Committee, told a class meeting on the University of Michigan's Dearborn Campus that a new stereotype had to be created in order for the Republicans to win a minimum of 30 new seats in the House at next month's congressional election.

Molin was serving as a guest

Keith Molin

Molin

Keith Molin, an Escanaba native formerly active in Delta County and Upper Peninsula Republican party organization work, is a brother of Mrs. Carl J. Olson of 619 Minneapolis Ave., Gladstone.

professor in U-M Prof. John Dempsey's course, "The Making of a President, 1968." The course is being offered through election week by the University Center for Adult Education.

Youth In Politics

Molin said, "The late President John F. Kennedy is responsible more than anyone else for the youth movement in politics today." The young candidate is creative, farsighted and able to capture the imagination of the voter.

His lack of experience permits a fresh approach to the problems in his district. The neophyte in politics can start campaigning quickly without having to spend several weeks winning back old friends and making apologies for past mistakes.

Molin explained that a newcomer is not handicapped by stereotypes in which most experienced politicians are eventually cast. "His name is new to the voter, his face is new to the voter, and his ideas and solutions are new to the voter."

What's more, the inexperienced candidate has fewer enemies than the old pro. "A candidate who has not held political office before has not offended many people. He therefore is not as large a target for the opposition as one who has been in public office for many years."

Youth's Advantage

To some voters, youth and lack of experience may seem to be a handicap, but in reality these can be used by the candidate to his advantage, Molin said. He can be frank with the voter by facing the issues and admitting that the answers to national problems are not known.

Somehow, the 1968 Republican candidate has to avoid being labeled. He directs his campaign to the issues, but without being classified in a political group. "After all," Molin said, "there is no liberal or conservative way to build highways or remove garbage."

When confronted with questions for which he has no answers, the new G.O.P. candidate admits it. "The candidate's frankness with the problems breeds confidence in the voter," Molin said.

The Republican party wants its man to have a local identification. "He must be an outstanding community leader and aware of the local problems in order to address himself to community needs," Molin said.

Need Organization

No candidate can be elected without some kind of party organization, for financial reasons. Generally, a political organization has to spend $1 in political advertising for each vote cast in the district.

"Each presidential candidate this year will spend some $40 million in the campaign," Molin said.

In addition to financial assistance, party organization is needed for the many chores involved in campaigning. Pamphlets, brochures, buttons, and posters have to be distributed throughout the district, and the task requires time and effort by workers.

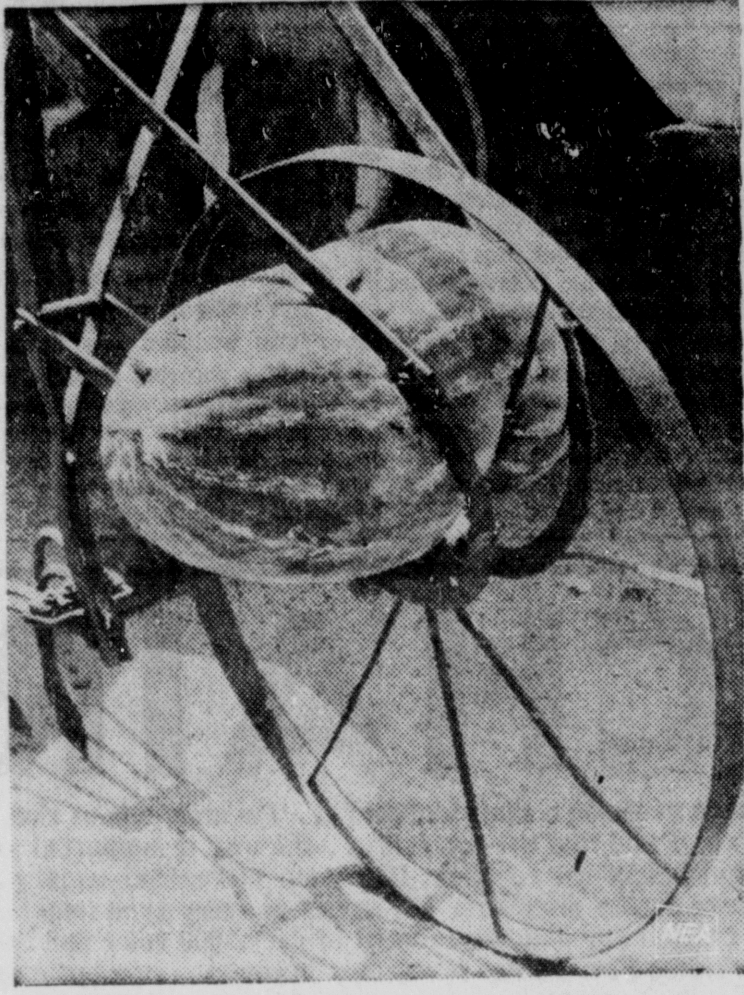

The G.O.P. wants to win all the positions up for election, Molin said, but it recognizes its limitations. This year all efforts are being made to win both the presidency and a controlling minimum of 218 seats in the House of Representatives.

Target Areas

At present there are 188 Republicans in the House — 30 short of a majority, Molin said. "We have selected certain districts. We then concentrate on the districts we think we can win."

Molin said that the G.O.P. has a good chance to win House seats in districts in which the rural-suburban or suburban-big city periphery political combinations exist.

The Republican party has selected 60 areas with the right combinations of political boundaries for concentrated campaigning. If they win half of them, the program will have been successful, according to Molin.

Patricia Neal Has Premiere

NEW YORK (AP) — Surrounded by old friends from show business, a "very happy and relieved" Patricia Neal watched Sunday night the first movie she's made since she suffered two crippling strokes almost four years ago.

"I'm just delighted," she said as she arrived for the premiere of the film version of "The Subject Was Roses," Frank D. Gilroy's Pulitzer Prize winning play.

Several hundred motion picture and stage stars turned out to applaud Miss Neal at the premiere and to toast her at a post-opening party at Sardi's.

Miss Neal, 42, was stricken in February 1965, while filming in Hollywood. The two strokes left the Academy Award-winning actress partially paralyzed and unable to speak.

"When the producer and director came to me and asked me to do the film, I didn't think I could," said Miss Neal Sunday night. "But my husband thought I could," she added, looking at Ronald Dahl, the British mystery writer to whom she has been married for more than 15 years and the person she credits with encouraging her recovery.

The movie tells the story of an Irish-American family in the Bronx just after World War II.

Deaf-Mute Spies Pueblo's Appeal

DETROIT (AP) — What was originally believed an obscene gesture of defiance on the part of captured USS Pueblo crewmen in North Korea has been interpreted by deaf-mute printers at the Detroit Free Press as an eloquent appeal for help.

In a propaganda photograph sent by North Korea to a relative of one of the captured men and widely distributed on the Associated Press Wirephoto network, three of the men in the group picture appear to be gesturing with their middle fingers.

Andrew A. Lapis, a deaf-mute Free Press printer, saw the picture in Saturday's editions of the paper and recognized signals made by the four men in the front row as signifying the letters HELP.

Other deaf-mutes employed at the newspaper agreed with Lapis' interpretation.

The Free Press said in its Sunday editions it had been told by the State Department in Washington that the signal had not been recognized. "Any attempt to send out a signal or messages is very likely to get the crew members in trouble," a State Department spokesman was quoted. He added State Department experts would examine the photo immediately.

The picture showed eight men, four standing in the rear and four seated in front.

Although the four signals appear to be made by some of the crew members with their left hands and others with their right, Lapis said the deaf-mute sign language can be transmitted with either hand. The picture originally was sent to Earl W. Hopkins of Tacoma, Wash., whose nephew, Charles Law, is one of those shown in the photo.

Lapis said the first three letters in the word "help" were formed correctly, while the "p" was incorrectly formed with the middle finger instead of the index finger.

"It was probably a mistake," said Lapis. "But I still knew what it was."

The four crewmen who spelled out the appeal were identified as Howie Bland, Don Peppard, Jim Layton and Monroe Goldie-man.

State Chamber Urges Defeat Of Tax Proposal

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce is urging defeat of a ballot proposal which would legalize graduated income taxes in Michigan.

The proposal, which will be No. 1 on the Nov. 5 ballot, would overturn a present provision of the state constitution which forbids graduated income taxes.

The state chamber said in a newsletter that graduated taxation "places a penalty on productivity" and "discourages investment to create new jobs."

It added Michigan already has "one of the least competitive tax systems" in the scramble among states to attract industry. "It would be illogical to aggravate this condition with any degree of expectancy of maintaining a desirable and necessary rate of economic growth," it said.

Hospital officials say a mentally incompetent patient is believed to be the father of the boy. (AP Wirephoto)

Dairymen Hope For Good Year

With better silage and corn crops in prospect, Michigan dairymen are looking toward 1968, farming costs "ate up the increase" and Michigan's dairymen had less net return for their investment and management than they had the year before.

L. H. Brown, Michigan State University agricultural econo-increased more the past two years than for any similar period in more than a quarter century of farm record analysis.

Michigan's dwindling number of dairy farmers are now filling silos and starting corn harvest. Most areas of the state have possibilities of normal or better corn yields.

Supervisors Urge 'No' Vote On Time Question

The Board of Supervisors of Delta County joined the City Council of Escanaba today in urging a "No" vote Nov. 5 on the daylight savings time referendum in Michigan.

Action came as the board convened in the Delta County building in what might be the final session of the county's 27-member board.

A five-man board from new supervisor districts will be elected Nov. 5 to take office Jan. 1. The Board of Supervisors does not normally schedule a meeting after the October session for the remainder of the year.

In urging a "No" vote on the time referendum, the Board of Supervisors further resolved that Delta County remain on Eastern Standard Time year around.

Presumably, that action will hold Delta County clocks at their present hours when the nation goes off daylight savings time Sunday, Oct. 27.

The Board said Eastern Standard Time is the time desired by most residents of the county and cited a large number of petitions which have been filed to support that opinion.

Presently, Delta County is considered under Central Daylight Savings time, which is identical with Eastern Standard Time.

In other action this morning before the Board recessed into committee meetings, a resolution calling for bids on ambulance service for Delta County was approved.

The Board of Supervisors presently is paying a per call subsidy to City Ambulance Service of Escanaba, but Supervisor Roy Jensen of Escanaba said that since the county is "talking $8,000 to $10,000" for its 1969 budget that the county should get bids on providing the service.

The board also resolved to permit the Ways and Means committee to consider recommending an appropriation to Gladstone's Tourist Park.

Supervisor Frank Stupak of Gladstone asked consideration of an appropriation because Gladstone hasn't been able to provide funds to develop the park into a tourist facility.

Major item for consideration by the Board later today was expected to be the new operating budget.

Judge Accepts Guilty Pleas

Judge Bernard H. Davidson accepted guilty pleas from five young men this morning as Circuit Court for Delta County opened its October term.

Pardee took a car owned by James Unmuth of Kipling on Aug. 15 and Bellows and Peterson were together in driving away an automobile owned by David Koski of Rock earlier this month.

Bellows also pleaded guilty to a charge of escaping from custody. He ran from police officers at the Delta County jail.

Seul Choix Has Beach Pollution

An oil slick apparently discharged by a freighter in upper Lake Michigan has polluted 10 miles of beach in the area of Seul Choix Point in Schoolcraft County near Port Inland, the Water Resources Commission of the Michigan Conservation Department has been informed by the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department.

The oil began appearing on the beach last Thursday and was described as "very noticeable" on Friday. Seagulls and other waterbirds in the area were affected by it and a south wind was carrying it into the mouths of streams in the area.

Boyd Briggs, sanitarian of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department, informed the Water Resources Commission that the oil, described as a heavy fuel oil, was apparently from a freighter. One report had it that it was believed from a foreign ocean ship.

The Coast Guard office at Sault Ste. Marie was notified and so was the Conservation Department, which was to make an aerial inspection of the area today to try to determine the source of the pollution.

Look Into War Museum Blaze

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives poked through a mass of charred wreckage today trying to determine if protesters against the Vietnam war set fire to Britain's Imperial War Museum.

Fire burned out the 120-foot dome of the museum Sunday night, but an official said most of the priceless collection from the two world wars was saved.

Officials said the fire was the work of an arsonist and was started by two incendiary bombs, one hidden in the dome and the other thrown through a ground-floor window.

Leaflets circulated in London last week urged demonstrators to make grenades and fire-bombs and assemble for a massive anti-Vietnam protest Oct. 27. But Scotland Yard said investigations so far showed "absolutely no connection" between the leaflets and the museum fire.

The museum's huge copper-sheathed dome was wrecked by the blaze that erupted after an explosion before midnight. Firemen battled the flames in a scene watched by thousands of bystanders and reminiscent of the wartime blitz. Two firemen were injured.

Despite the damage, the museum was reopened to the public today while detectives and fingerprint experts worked inside. The dome was still smoldering.

HHH's Son Sees Michigan Victory

LANSING (AP) — Hubert H. "Skip" Humphrey III, son of the vice president, predicted Friday that his father would carry Michigan in the November Presidential election.

Humphrey, 26, who is a law student at the University of Minnesota, said he based his prediction of the polls and talks with party leaders.

"If we can get out the Democratic vote and reduce the Wallace influence, I think we can win," Humphrey said.

He made the statement during a weekend campaign swing in Michigan. Humphrey visited Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek, Jackson and Lansing Friday. He was scheduled to visit Flint and Detroit on Saturday and Sunday.

Hotel Robberies

DETROIT (AP) — Seven guests were held up in two robberies within 40 minutes today in the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel in Detroit. Both robberies occurred on the third floor.

PFC RODNEY James Goodyear recently spent a leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hay of Rte. 1 Escanaba. He left Oct. 1 for Fort Lewis, Wash., and is now stationed in Vietnam. Pfc. Goodyear entered the U. S. Army in May of this year and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He received advanced training at Fort Gordon, Ga., and graduated from Military Police School on Sept. 6 of this year.

Youth Suffers Head Injuries In Street Fight

Robert Erickson, 22, of 1126 N. 16th St., is in St. Francis Hospital today receiving treatment for severe head injuries received in a fight about 12:55 a. m., Sunday in the 1500 block, Ludington St.

Escanaba police reported that Erickson suffered a skull fracture and face injuries. Because of his condition, he was unable to talk with officers.

The police reported that in response to a telephone call they went to the 1500 block, where they found Erickson on the sidewalk, bleeding badly from head injuries and "barely conscious."

The investigation, which included the questioning of six young men, is continuing.

Bundy's Remark Tagged Realistic By N. Vietnamese

PARIS (AP) — A North Vietnamese spokesman described as realistic today the recommendation of former U.S. presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy that America halt its air raids on North Vietnam.

Nguyen Thanh Le, press officer for Hanoi's peace talks delegation, was referring to remarks Bundy made Saturday in Greenville, S.C.

Asked to comment, Le said: "We consider it realistic. The statement has positive aspects." Le did not say that a U.S. bombing halt would open the way to serious peace discussions. North Vietnam's envoys here have insisted that the United States must cease "all other acts of war"—reconnaissance flights, for example—as well as the air attacks.

Bundy, former aide to President Johnson, is now president of the Ford Foundation.

Policeman Shot At N.Y. School

NEW YORK (AP) — Teachers have voted authorization for another strike against the New York City public school system. As that new threat came, three policemen were shot and wounded Sunday night while on duty outside a school in Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville district where teacher dismissals precipitated the strike crisis.

The wounds suffered by the three officers when a sniper fired down on them from a tenement rooftop were not considered serious. One was released from a hospital after treatment.

More than a dozen patrol cars scoured the neighborhood and 30 detectives began a door-to-door, cellar-to-backyard search for a man of about 24 believed to be the sniper.

If the strike takes place in the nation's biggest public school system, it would be the third unscheduled holiday in six weeks for 1.1 million pupils.

Teachers' union President Albert Shanker advised his 55,000 members Sunday night they would be told today if the strike is on.

As teachers voted on a strike endorsement—approved by an announced 6,042 to 2,128—about a dozen parents picketed outside their meeting hall with signs such as "Strike 3—You're Out."

Council Chambers May Be Altered To City Offices

The use of the Escanaba Council chamber for city offices will be an item of consideration by the Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the City Hall.

City Manager George Harvey will report to the Council on the estimated cost of converting the area on the second floor of the City Hall to city office facilities.

It is proposed to have the Council meet in the service addition to the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center, if the change of the present chamber to office use is approved. The service addition will have space on the ground floor for Council sessions, and will be convenient for both the Council and for spectators.

The Council Thursday night will also have before it the appointment of a member to the Planning Commission to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Ron Lankford; and to the Safety Committee because of the resignation of Ernie Rudolph.

A resolution in tribute to Harold C. "Pat" Hayes for his "contributions to the community" will be adopted; and there will be reports and recommendations received by the Council on the purchase of gravel and rock salt.

The assigning of a lease of Galleger Marine to the Minnesota Lumber and Wrecking Co. for utilization of ore dock property will be considered.

Bea Benaderet Succumbs Sunday In Los Angeles

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bea Benaderet, matriarch of television's "Petticoat Junction," is dead at 62—the victim of pneumonia and lung cancer.

The blonde, brown-eyed actress was starting her sixth season playing Kate Bradley. She had filmed five episodes for the current run when she was forced to return to the hospital Sept. 26.

The vivacious performer underwent radiation treatment last year at the Stanford Medical Clinic in Palo Alto for a lung tumor.

Upon her release, Miss Benaderet told a newsmen, while recuperating at Palm Springs—"Every day is beautiful to me . . . I feel fine, better than I have felt in years."

She died Sunday in Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles.

Prior to top casting as the quick-tongued mother in "Petticoat's" Hooterville, Miss Benaderet was Blanche Morton, wife of fastidious Harry Morton—next door neighbors in the long run of the "George Burns and Gracie Allen Show." In this part, she excelled in repartee.

A public funeral is planned. She leaves her husband, sound technician Gene Twombly; a daughter, Margaret Kilfoil, 20; a son, Jack, 27, and a granddaughter. The family home is at suburban Studio City.

Partridges Have Learned Wariness To Foil Hunter

By LEE SMITHS

Our ruffed grouse has been called the King of Game Birds, a title that will never be disputed by a grouse hunter. Perhaps the vagaries of the species adds to its appeal. In the present century the mapping of grouse population cycles got started, and now biologists ask whether the cycles might not be largely imaginary.

Every hunter knows that grouse may be abundant in an area one year and scarce in that same area the next year. Yet no one has come up with a solid explanation for the ups and downs.

One reason for the apparent cycles might be the grouse habit of seeking out favorite foods. A student of the species, working in the heart of prime grouse territory, gave his views. E. Ford Kellum, Conservation Department district game biologist at Gaylord, reports grouse neither up or down in his territory.

"The birds certainly move around," he said, "to preferred feeding grounds. Grouse we've examined were feeding on mushrooms, wild raisins, cherries as well as the standard rations of white clover, wintergreen, wild grape."

Ruffed grouse were originally found in every Michigan county. Just as bob white quail benefited greatly from agriculture, grouse habitat was radically improved by logging. Not only did the harvesting of cedar and hardwood give grouse the kind of cover they like best, but logging introduced volunteer plantings of white clover, from hay brought in for horses.

A tantalizing mystery is the change in behavior of hunted grouse. It was possible, 50 years ago, to bag grouse, without a dog of any kind and with no shooting ability whatsoever. A flushed bird perched in a tree and if you missed him with the first shot he stayed still until you tried again.

But not any more! Up in Canada they still have trusting grouse. Indian kids kill them with stones. A guide has been known to make a noose with fishline and snare a grouse with a fly rod.

There are two theories to account for the dramatic change in grouse behavior. In the days when grouse were absurdly tame, most of a covey would be shot out of a tree. One or two might fly away. The escapees would live to reproduce and, theoretically, their descendants would inherit an unusual degree of caution.

Men who devote their careers to the study of wildlife believe that grouse do not inherit wariness, but learn it. According to such notable biologists as Dr. Durward L. Allen of Purdue University, it is not a genetic inheritance but a social inheritance that produces abnormal scariness.

A bird with a minimum of fear is the spruce grouse. The trusting nature of this bird has earned it the nickname, "fool hen", which is given year-round protection in Michigan.

Michigan's third grouse, the sharp-tail, is not likely to perch in trees while a hunter takes his time. The sharp-tail appeared in the Upper Peninsula in the early part of the century. About that same time prairie chicken also showed up in new territory. On opening day sharp-tail may lie for a dog or be walked up to by a hunter. After that at the first sign of danger sharp-tail take off and disappear into the far horizon.

Donald W. Douglas, chief of the Conservation Department Game Division, explains why it is difficult to distinguish between male and female ruffed grouse. In general, the tail of the male is bordered by a black band at its outer edge. This black band, on the female grouse, is broken in the center by a patch of brown tail feathers, but this is not a very reliable index.

When snow is on the ground ruffed grouse start "budding", alighting on hardwood trees in late afternoon to fill their crops. When snow is two feet deep they find insulated sleeping quarters by diving into soft snow.

Soon after the snow is gone in the spring drumming pulses in ruffed grouse habitat. On his chosen log the drummer spends hours at a time, sending out a muffled tattoo produced by fanning his wings rapidly against his body as he stands on tip toe, awaiting visits from romantic females. In the fall, on a misty night, the soft appeal is again sounded, purely for the sake of romantic memories, so far as anyone can tell.

There is an old saying that every hunter is entitled to one good grouse dog in his lifetime. The grouse dog must travel softly, range close and it helps if it is a careful retriever. A pal dog, so attached to its master that it will not hunt if he is out of sight, has the great advantage of not ranging out beyond gun range.

Oldtimers try to tell how to shoot grouse. They talk about instinctive shooting, and they admonish the beginner to shoot at the roar of wings, and the glimpse of a twisting bird. Not poke and stall. Sound advice, although there is only one way to learn to shoot grouse with fair success. Start young and keep at it the rest of your life.

Ball Control Helps Eskymos Notch Win

"When we beat this team, we're playing great," echoed coach Jerry Cveengros after his Escanaba Eskymo team walked off the field with a 29-0 homecoming victory over the tough Marinette Marines Saturday afternoon at the Escanaba Athletic Field.

A second half ball control offense helped the Eskymos move their season record to 6-0-1. After holding on to a 9-0 lead at half time, the Eskymos came back in the final half to completely dominate play and score 20 more points. The Marines only had the ball for four series and made no first downs in the final two periods of play.

Senior tailback Ken Robitaille played his most outstanding game of the season, leading the Eskymo ballcarriers in the rushing department with 109 yards in 20 carries and scoring three touchdowns, two on runs and the other on a pass from quarterback Greg Johnson.

Escanaba got on the scoreboard with 6:38 left in the first quarter after Mike Dupont fell on a Marinette fumble on the Marines' 19 yard line. Two carries by Johnson and Robitaille put the ball on the one where fullback Jim Olsen crashed his way into the end zone. Dan Mylander's kick for the extra point hit the right goal post and bounced away.

Marinette's first big gain came on a third down play after receiving the kickoff. Quarterback Shely Fifarek hit Dale Peterson with a 26-yard pass to put the ball on the Escanaba 47. Fifarek then rolled around his own end for nine yards but fumbled and Escanaba's Wes Peterson dropped on the ball at the Escanaba 36.

Marinette got down close once more, moving the ball to the Eskymos' eight yard line, but Fifarek fumbled again and Escanaba's Kent Anderson recovered on the eleven.

Escanaba started another scoring drive late in the second quarter from the Marinette 40-yard line. Johnson found wingback Gene Timmer all alone on the 17 for a 23-yard completion and end John Moberg caught another pass at the Marinette six. Three incomplete passes brought Mylander into the game to attempt a field goal with 12 seconds remaining on the clock. The kick was good and Escanaba carried a 9-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Following the second half kickoff, Escanaba got the ball on the Marinette 47-yard line on a punt return and a 15-yard penalty on the Marines for grabbing the face mask. Robitaille and Olsen carried the ball to the 25, picking up two first downs in the drive, before Robitaille broke three tackles at the line of scrimmage and scampered 25 yards for the touchdown. Mylander's kick again failed to find the mark and Escanaba held a 15 point advantage.

Ted Witt, a former Escanaba High School player, recovered a fumble for the Marines on their own 26 yard line but they were forced to punt after losing 18 yards, all the way back to the eight yard line.

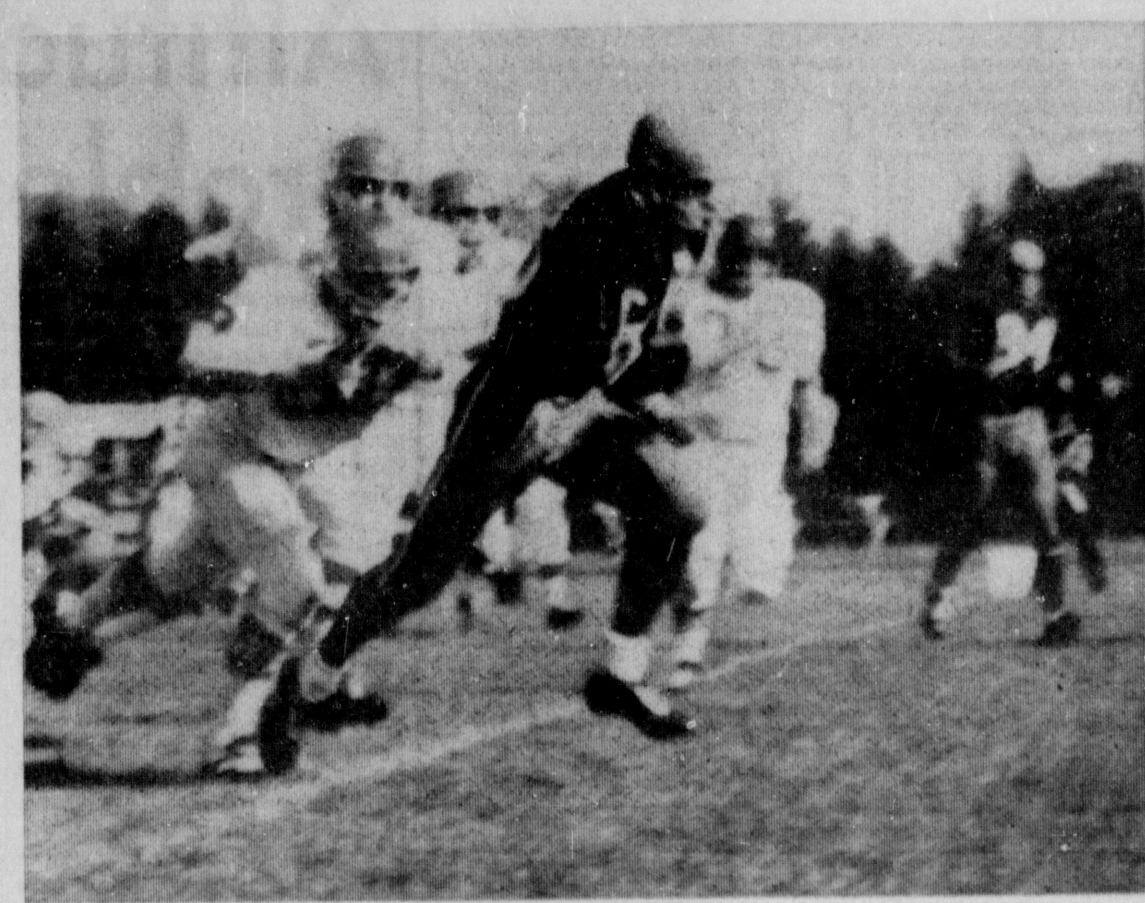

Johnson went to work from the Marinette 41. He carried twice for nine yards and Robitaille added six more and an Escanaba first down at the Marinette 26. Two more rushing attempts by Robitaille put the ball on the 23 before Johnson faded back to pass on a fourth and seven situation and found Robitaille alone in the end zone for the third Escanaba touchdown of the afternoon. Mylander made the kick for the extra point and Escanaba led 22-0.

An onside kick gave the ball back to the Eskymos as a Marinette lineman dropped the ball and Don Bichler fell on it at the Marinette 39. Escanaba scored in seven plays from that point, the final play being a 15-yard scamper by Robitaille around his own left end. Mylander split the uprights with the PAT attempt to clinch the Eskymo victory.

Marinette got the ball back once more in the game and put on a drive that ended on the Escanaba 12-yard line when Fifarek's fourth down pass attempt fell incomplete. The big gainer in the drive was a screen pass to fullback Mike Blazek, good for 50 yards and putting the ball on the Escanaba 18.

Cveengros felt his team did block well in the first half but the ball control offense and Moberg's punting kept the Marines deep in their own territory in the second half. On defense, Cveengros was well pleased with the whole unit but especially praised the work of Steve Stropich and Moberg at the defensive end spots. "Peterson's return helped and Timmer did an excellent job in the secondary filling in for Mylander," the Eskymo coach added. The Eskymo defense held the Marines to six yards in the second half.

Escanaba's next game is a Great Northern Conference clash at Iron Mountain next Saturday afternoon and they return home for a contest with cross-town rival Holy Name.

Iron Mountain Plans Ski Jump Instruction

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — A long-time producer of champions and record-breaking leaps, Iron Mountain suddenly finds itself without an outstanding competitor in the spectacular sport of ski jumping.

So it is doing something about it.

It expects more than 200 youngsters to attend a school of instruction this winter. Approximately 180 turned out last winter to learn the rudiments of the sport from two former U.S. champions, Butch Wedin and Jack Paquette.

Pupils range from 5 to 15 in age, and one of this year's 5-year-olds will be the son of Willie Erickson, a three-times national champion and member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team.

Others attending Thursday night instructional sessions will include two sons of Dick Rahoi, also a 1960 Olympic team member, and a 7-year-old son of Connie Erickson, Willie's brother and a one-time competitor in major tournaments as a class B rider.

Iron Mountain's current top rider is Gary Sparpana, national junior champion in 1966. Sparpana failed to measure up to expectations last season, his first in senior competition.

Ski-jumping buffs, and nearly everyone here is, proudly point out that the instructional school sponsored by the Kiwanis Ski Club and community schools is attracting a goodly number of girls to a sport dominated by males.

Participants are given T-shirts with "Pee Wee Ski Jumpers" stenciled on them and proudly wear them about town during the warm months. The shirts set them apart as local heroes or heroines of sorts.

Jumping, as might be expected, is taken gradually. Six-year-olds usually leap no more than 15 feet or so, with the 11- and 12-year-olds limited to 35 feet or thereabout.

The Iron Mountain News reports the individual distances as if it were covering a major tournament.

Dennis Osterhout scored the only Soo Loretto touchdown when he plunged into the end zone from two yards out. The Soo Loretto drive started on the Engadine 38 and took eight plays to hit paydirt. A running attempt for the extra point fell short.

The final Engadine score came on a 60-yard run by Bigger on a reverse. Brown's kick made the score 21-6.

Bigger topped the Engadine rushers with 145 in 18 carries while Osterhout was the leading ball carrier for Soo Loretto with 39 yards in 14 carries. Engadine picked up 213 yards in the game, all on rushing. Jim Schutt and Bigger were in on 10 tackles apiece for the Eagles.

Pine Mountain jumpers begin their run 162 feet—the equivalent of 16 stories—above their take-off point. In a 300-foot leap, a jumper hits the take-off at approximately 70 miles an hour and when he finally stops he's at least three city blocks from where he pushed off atop the tower.

The contour of the landing area, exactly matching that of the tower, and the forward motion of the rider breaks the shock of the touchdown and sends him zooming down the out-run.

Iron Mountain boasts its tower is the highest such in the United States. If a rider were to find a flat, instead of contoured area at the bottom of his jump it likely would be his very last. As it is, a mistake by even an expert can crack quite a few bones.

U.S. records often have been set on Pine Mountain, most recently only last January, when Adrian Watt of Duluth, Minn., sailed 337 feet. But the record was broken—by a foot—at Westby, Wis., shortly thereafter as Bjorn Wirkola of Norway sailed 338 feet.

Participants are given T-shirts with "Pee Wee Ski Jumpers" stenciled on them and proudly wear them about town during the warm months. The shirts set them apart as local heroes or heroines of sorts.

Engadine Scores 3rd Season Win

SAULT STE. MARIE—Engadine evened their season record at 3-3 Saturday as they notched an Eastern U.P. Conference victory over Soo Loretto by a score of 21-6.

Engadine's first touchdown came with two minutes left in the first half as they capped a 93 yard drive in seven plays with Pat Bigger running the final two yards for the touchdown. John Brown kicked the extra point to give the Eagles a 7-0 margin at intermission.

Engadine scored again late in the third period as Bigger scored on a yard plunge on the 14th play of a 62-yard drive. Brown's conversion attempt was good and the Eagles held a 14-0 lead.

Buckeyes Upset Unbeaten Purdue

By The Associated Press

Northwestern knows how it feels to play the top teams in college football. Saturday it gets a whack at Ohio State which just might be the best.

In four starts, the winless Wildcats have lost to Purdue, No. 1; Southern California, No. 2; Notre Dame, No. 5, and tough but unranked Miami of Florida. Somehow, Penn State, No. 3, is missing from the Wildcats' schedule, which might be the most demanding in college football.

Besides reshuffling the Top Ten rankings, Ohio State boosted its chances for its first national championship in 14 years by surprising unbeaten Purdue 13-0. Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes called it the greatest defensive effort he had ever seen.

Purdue was a two-touchdown favorite to beat Ohio State, which went into the game ranked No. 4.

The only other Top Ten teams to lose over the weekend were eighth-ranked LSU, shut out by Miami of Florida 30-0 Friday night, and ninth-ranked Nebraska, which lost to sixth-ranked Kansas 23-13.

Purdue meets Wake Forest Saturday in what must be regarded as a breather for the Boilermakers' one-two punch of quarterback Mike Phipps and halfback Leroy Keyes.

The Phipps-Keyes combination had their problems against Ohio State, however. Keyes, an All-American and Heisman Trophy candidate, managed only 19 yards on seven carries and Phipps hit only 10 of 28 passes.

The play of Buckeye sophomore cornerback John Tatum was described by Hayes as "out of this world." Tatum spilled Phipps twice for big losses and helped provide the pass coverage that kept the ball out of Keyes' hands most of the day.

Interceptions brought both State touchdowns. Ted Provost grabbed a Phipps pass 72 seconds into the final half and ran 34 yards for a score. And reserve quarterback Bill Long ran 14 yards for a touchdown late in the quarter after middle guard Jim Stillwagon intercepted a Phipps' pass at the Purdue 26.

Southern Cal needed O. J. Simpson's three touchdowns and a late field goal to edge Stanford 27-24. The Trojans should have an easier time next week-end against Washington.

Penn State, which tripped UCLA 21-6 to keep its unbeaten record, has an open date before meeting Boston College.

In the key Big Eight game, Kansas needed two touchdowns in the last five minutes to beat Nebraska. Quarterback Bobby Douglass capped a 73-yard drive on a one-yard plunge with 4:09 left and then raced 10 yards with 1:11 remaining.

Notre Dame held only a 7-0 lead against Northdieu x ran for two second-half scores and Terry Hanratty threw for one as the Irish wore down their plucky opponents 27-7. Notre Dame faces unimpressive Illinois Saturday.

In other Top Ten action, seventh-ranked Florida beat Tulane 24-3 and Tennessee bested Georgia Tech 24-7.

Upsets abounded in the Second Ten. Houston, No. 11, lost to Oklahoma State 21-17; Michigan State, No. 12, was beaten by Michigan 28-14; Mississippi, No. 13, lost to Georgia, No. 17, 21-7; California, No. 16, lost to Army and Kentucky defeated Oregon State, No. 20, 35-34.

Altitude Situation Creates Problem At Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Considerable speculation arose today over the effects of the altitude after one day's competition in the 19th Olympics left veteran runner Ron Clarke unconscious and an American rower in the infirmary at this 1½ mile high city.

Naftali Temu of Kenya won the lung-busting 10,000-meter run—a drama-spiked race that left veteran Ron Clarke unconscious—and Mohammed Nasiri of Iran set a world record in taking the bantamweight weightlifting title.

Those were the only two gold medals handed out on Sunday and the United States was not a factor in either of them.

But the U.S. track team gave notice that it would, along with Russia, be the dominant force in these troubled Games, marred on opening day by a soccer fight, illness and high-altitude drop outs.

Temu, a slight 23-year-old, out-dueled Mamo Wolde of Ethiopia in the stretch and won in the relatively slow time of 29:24. Mohammed Gammoudi of Tunisia was third and Juan Martinez of Mexico, who had led most of the way, was fourth.

Clarke, holder of 17 world records but never a winner in the Olympics, was second with three laps to go, but faded back in the 7,347-foot altitude.

It was at that point that Kipchoge Keino of Kenya, another veteran, dropped out. With three laps remaining, he pulled into the infield, lay down for a few seconds, then got up and finished.

Tracy Smith of Arcadia, Calif., was the best American, finishing 11th. Billy Mills, who scored a surprise victory for the U.S. squad in the 1964 Olympics, did not qualify to defend his title.

Clarke collapsed, was unconscious and had to be given oxygen after finishing and was suffering from double vision and lack of concentration.

"Toward the end of the race, most anybody else would have given up," said Dr. Brian Corrigan of the Australian team. "The whole story is a shortage of oxygen taken in and the man who takes in the most oxygen does better."

"Clarke ran beyond his capacity because he was not taking in enough oxygen."

Nassiri, of Iran, did a backflip on stage after winning the gold in weight-lifting. He bettered the world record in the jerk with 330 pounds and had an Olympic record total of 810 pounds.

Foldi Imre of Hungary took the silver medal and Henryk Trebicki of Tunisia the bronze.

The United States had to be content with a strong showing in some preliminary events, a basketball victory and a 49 foot 400-meter hurdle mark by Ron Whitney of Boulder, Colo., bettering the listed world mark.

There was one major disappointment—a fifth-place finish in a heat by Harvard's eight-oared crew.

Geoff Vanderstock of Los Angeles finished second in his heat of the 400-meter hurdles and qualified for the next round.

The United States qualified a full complement of three through two rounds of the 100 meters, led by Charlie Green's wind-aided 10 flat and put three more in the finals of the shot put topped by Randy Matson's 67-10½ toss, topping the Olympic record. He made only the one throw.

George Woods and Dave Maggard also qualified, with only Maggard making more than one throw.

Willie White and Martha Watson qualified for the women's long jumps finals, but were back in the pack, Miss White seventh and Miss Watson tied for 10th.

Tom Farrell was second in his 800-meter heat to qualify for the finals, along with Ron Kutschinski, who made it as among the fastest of the losers.

In rowing, the U.S. coxless pairs won their heat, while the coxed pairs and coxed fours also reached the semis after second and third-place finishes, respectively.

A rash of illness was reported on the Harvard eights, perhaps accounting for its poor showing, and Bill Maher, Detroit, a member of the double sculls collapsed after he and John Nunn won their heat. He was taken to the infirmary for rest and is expected to be ready for their competition.

The U.S. basketball team scored an 81-46 first-round victory over Spain while Russia won its first game, beating Poland 91-56.

The fight occurred at a soccer match between Israel and Ghana with two members of the Ghana being escorted off the field. Israel won 5-3.

Packers Suffer Third Defeat Of NFL Season

By The Associated Press

Bart Starr hurt himself and the Green Bay Packers by warming up the regular way. Maybe he should have tried Sonny Jurgensen's method.

Starr pulled a muscle in his passing arm while warming up Sunday and then stood on the sidelines as the Packers lost 16-14 to the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams for their third defeat in five National Football League games.

Jurgensen, weakened by a severe cold, slept in a storage room for two hours before the game, then went out and threw two touchdown passes in leading the Washington Redskins to a 16-13 victory over Pittsburgh.

The victory lifted the Redskins above the .500 mark at 3-2 and moved them to within a game of the New York Giants in the Capital Division.

The Giants, 4-1, fell out of a first-place tie with Dallas by being upset 24-21 by Atlanta, 1-4, while the Cowboys were trouncing Philadelphia, 0-5, 34-14.

Los Angeles, by boosting its record to 5-0, kept pace in the Coastal Division with the Baltimore Colts who smashed San Francisco 42-14.

In other NFL action, Detroit moved into a tie for the Central Division lead at 3-2 with Minnesota by downing Chicago, 1-4, 28-19 as Minnesota was upset by New Orleans 20-17 and St. Louis beat Cleveland 27-21.

New Orleans, Cleveland and St. Louis share the Century Division lead with 2-3 records.

In the American Football League Sunday, Denver upset the New York Jets 21-13, San Diego surprised Oakland 23-14, Kansas City topped Cincinnati 13-3 and Houston blanked Boston 16-0. Buffalo and Miami tied 14-14 Saturday night.

Bruce Gossett's 27-yard field goal, set up by an interference penalty, in the closing seconds kept Los Angeles in its deadlock with Baltimore and prevented the Packers from moving into a tie with Minnesota with Detroit.

The winning field goal, Gossett's third of the game, came four plays after Packer corner back Herb Adderley was called for interference against Jack Snow, giving the Rams a first down on the Green Bay 25.

One of three interceptions against Zeke Bratkowski, Starr's replacement set up Los Angeles' touchdown in the third period. Willie Ellison scored it from the one. Donnie Anderson ran four yards for a Packer score in the second period and Tom Brown put Green Bay ahead 14-13 by returning a punt 52 yards.

Jurgensen threw a 17-yard scoring strike to Jerry Smith in the opening period, and, then with the Redskins trailing Pittsburgh, 0-5, 10-9 in the third period, he escaped being tackled in the end zone to launch a 96-yard drive which he climaxed with a 49-yard pass to Smith.

Atlanta got its upset of the Giants when Lee Cailand intercepted a Fran Tarkenton pass in the end zone with 1:16 left. The pass came on a third-and-one foot situation on the Atlanta 12. Tarkenton did throw three touchdown passes but they could not offset three Atlanta scores on runs and a field goal by Bob Etter.

Don Meredith threw two touchdown passes as Dallas marched past Philadelphia Kicker Sam Baker faked a punt and passed 58 yards for one Philadelphia touchdown.

Earl Morrill hit two scoring strikes for Baltimore and John Unitas, making his first appearance of the season, threw one. Preston Pearson got the Colts started by returning the opening kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown.

Mel Farr rambled for 138 yards, caught six passes for 72 more and scored three touchdowns to spark Detroit over Chicago, whose great Gale Sayers was limited to 38 yards on 12 carries.

New Orleans fashioned its upset of Minnesota on fourth-quarter field goals of 32 and 42 yards by Charlie Durkee. Bo Burris of the Saints returned an intercepted pass 94 yards for a touchdown.

St. Louis took advantage of a pair of interference calls to score two touchdowns in the second quarter and then wrapped up its victory over Cleveland with a 33-yard scoring pass from Jim Hart to Dave Williams in the third.

Smith Signs 2-Year Pact

DETROIT (AP) — "I'm happy with everything," said Mayo Smith after getting a $15,000 raise and a new two-year contract to manage the World Champion Detroit Tigers.

Smith reached the new contract Saturday which gives him an annual salary of $55,000.

Fresh from the World Series triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals, Smith said batting coach Wally Moses definitely would return next year.

However, he said third base coach Tony Cucinello was leaving apparently to become a coach for his old friend, Chicago White Sox manager Al Lopez.

Smith said the rest of the Tiger's coaching staff would be signed up shortly. He said he hopes both Johnny Sain and Hal Naragon return.

On Saturday, Tiger owner John E. Fetzer joined Smith and general manager James Campbell in a four-hour meeting where they tried to finalize the list of 15 players they will protect in the forthcoming major league baseball expansion draft in Boston.

No results of the list were made public.

However, the Associated Press announced in a survey the reported protected players from all teams.

On the Associated Press' Detroit list of the 15 players were pitchers Pat Dobson, John Hiller, Mickey Lolich, Denny McLain, and Earl Wilson; catchers Bill Freehan and Jim Price; infielders Norm Cash, Tom Matchick, Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert; outfielders Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Jim Northrup and Mickey Stanley.
